CALGARY HERALD

BREAKING NEWS AT CALGARYHERALD.COM | PROUDLY CALGARY SINCE 1883 | SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 2010

RECREATION & INVESTMENT PROPERTIES

YOUR SUPER SATURDAY EDITION

REALITY TV JAZZES UP CALGARY DANCE TROUPE
Entertainment, Page D2

WHEN IN ROME . . . EAT, DRINK AND LAUGH
Travel, Page F1

FIND YOUR NEXT HOME IN HEART OF THE CITY
New Condos, Page J1

stmazda.com CLEARANCE SALES EVENT 0% $8,000 In Calgary Alberta StoneyTrail Mazda

CALGARY HERALD

BREAKING NEWS AT CALGARYHERALD.COM | PROUDLY CALGARY SINCE 1883 | SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 2010

SUTTER'S ROOKIE CELEBRATION TURNS INTO A NIGHTMARE

"He's shook up, he's embarrassed. He clearly feels bad about putting everyone in this situation."
FLAMES ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER JAY FEASTER

Bar photos, courtesy, American Junkie

Calgary Herald Archive

Calgary Flames rookie centre Brett Sutter is accused of sucker-punching a cab driver in what police say was an unprovoked attack after Sutter was kicked out of the American Junkie bar in Scottsdale, Ariz., on Thursday.

Enmax vows to clean up image

City utility will disclose executive pay, halt excesses

JASON MARKUSOFF
CALGARY HERALD

Enmax will boost its transparency by doing things like executive pay and perks, vows the company's embattled chairman, who issued a mea culpa Friday, followed by an apology.

"We're going to increase our disclosure. We're going to be quite transparent about that [in order] to be one of the top of Calgary, and we have certain requirements we should live up to in doing that," Cliff Fryers told reporters after a four-hour "shareholders" meeting with the new mayor and council.

"The fact is we missed some things around the edges, and we're very sorry for that, and we'll continue to go forward and correct that as we go forward," said Fryers.

When pressed, Fryers refused to specify what those "things" were.

The company and its officials have been embroiled in controversy for weeks over a $1.5-million golf bash at the lavish pavilion built at the home of its CEO.

SEE ENMAX, PAGE A8

THEY'RE SORRY, BUT FOR WHAT?
If it was an apology folks wanted — there — you've got it. Good enough? Fat chance.
Tony Seskus, Page B1

ALSO SEE
■ Enmax profit plunges in third quarter C1

The fact is we missed some things around the edges, and we're very sorry for that, and we'll continue to go forward and correct that as we go forward.
ENMAX CHAIRMAN CLIFF FRYERS

Dean Bicknell, Calgary Herald

Enmax chairman Cliff Fryers, left, said concerns raised by Mayor Naheed Nenshi are "entirely appropriate."

Hospital suicide highlights crisis of ER wait times

JODIE SINNEMA
EDMONTON JOURNAL
EDMONTON

Some time that Friday night, Shayne Hay checked himself out of the University Hospital psychiatric ward and walked across Edmonton's High Level bridge.

At around midnight, backpack on his shoulders, he walked into the Royal Alexandra emergency ward and told nurses he was suicidal.

Hay was given a room with a roommate and told he'd had been an in-patient in the psychiatric ward — and staff checked on him every 20 minutes. Every hour, his father was later told, Hay came out to ask

ALSO SEE
■ Health authority lowers wait targets A4
■ AHS muddles through again
Don Braid, A4

PLAYERS MUST LIVE UP TO STANDARDS
"The only intelligent solution is yourself and position you're bound to regret"
George Johnson, Page E1

ALSO SEE
■ Flames come up dry in desert E1
■ Teammates circle wagons

Team supports rookie charged with assault on cab driver

JASON VAN RASSEL AND STEPHANIE MASSINON
CALGARY HERALD

The Calgary Flames are standing behind Brett Sutter, who team officials say is embarrassed after being accused of sucker-punching a cab driver outside an Arizona bar on Thursday.

Sutter, 20, has not says the alleged assault is out of character for the 19-year-old rookie forward.

"He's shook up, he's embarrassed," assistant general manager Jay Feaster said Friday. "He clearly feels bad about putting everyone in this situation. And, obviously, it's a case of not knowing how the process is going to play out. This is a young man to be — he's concerned."

Police say Sutter hit the cab driver after being kicked out of a Phoenix-area bar, where he had gone after the team's annual rookie dinner.

Full index on Page A2

Today 4° Tonight -3° Complete weather information Page C14

CITY & REGION
Cook avoids jail for videotaping eatery staff in washroom
Page B1

Thanks, Mark Levack, for being a loyal Flames supporter.
The Calgary Herald is proud to be part of the community and we appreciate the

Developer teams up with Indian band

BARB LIVINGSTONE
CALGARY HERALD
OLIVER, B.C.

Some facts about Bellstar Developments Inc. and the Osoyoos Indian Band, which have joined forces to create the Canyon Desert Resort in Oliver, B.C.:

■ Bellstar Developments Inc. is a Calgary-based company that develops and operates hotels and boutique resorts in Western Canada.

Projects include such B.C. developments as Spirit Ridge in Osoyoos, Canyon Desert Golf Resort in Oliver, Bellasera in Kelowna, Pemberton Valley Lodge in Pemberton, Adara in Whistler, and Mountain Spirit Resort and Spa in Kimberly.

The company also has projects in Canmore, such as Blackstone Mountain Lodge, Solara Resort and Spa, Lodges at Canmore and Mystic Springs Chalets.

The founder, president and CEO of Bellstar is Ed Romanowski, whose tourism and hospitality career spans more than 30 years.

He founded Bellstar in 2003 and has guided and overseen Bellstar's growth from only one resort property under management in 2004 to 12 in 2010.

■ The Osoyoos Indian Band "is very focused on the future — and we realize that we create this future by our actions," says Chief Clarence Louie. "The single most important key to First Nation self-reliance is economic development."

Seen as one of the most progressive, entrepreneurial-oriented native organizations in Canada — Louie has been consulted by leaders in other countries — the Osoyoos Indian Band Development Corp. owns nine businesses that employ band members, as well as members of other First Nations and non-natives from the South Okanagan.

The businesses include its partnership with Bellstar in the Spirit Ridge Vineyard Resort and Spa (which also includes a conference centre and a desert cultural centre) and the Canyon Desert Resort.

It also owns the award-winning Nk'mip winery and its vineyards.

Visit www.oibdc.com

BELLSTAR HOTELS & RESORTS
THE CALGARY HERALD, NOVEMBER 13TH 2010, PAGE J17