Resort Living Re-defined at British Columbia Mountain Resort

Upscale ski-in, ski-out Mountain Spirit Resort in British Columbia, Canada, a wise choice with $11 million investment in conference center.

Offering upscale resort luxury at Kimberley Alpine Resort, Mountain Spirit Resort and Spa is located in the heart of the Kootenay region of British Columbia, Canada. The new resort is attracting attention from recreational property investors this year due to its proximity to the new $6 million Conference Centre and Paralympic Training Centre being built at the Alpine Resort – the first of its kind in North America.

With the 2010 Winter Olympics taking place in B.C., the whole province of British Columbia is attracting attention for its world class winter recreation. The Kimberley Alpine Resort was voted overall favorite resort in the Pacific Northwest by OnTheSnow.com in 2009 and is one of the largest ski mountains in B.C. and the southern anchor for the famed Powder Highway. The area's championship golf courses and magnificent surroundings provided by the Canadian Rockies, have increased its popularity as a four season resort destination. So much so that Delta Airlines now has direct flight service from Salt Lake City to the Canadian Rockies International Airport.

Mountain Spirit Resort & Spa has a true ski-in, ski-out location and will feature the only 6,000 sq. ft. spa at the alpine resort. As an owner, you enjoy fully fitted and furnished suites, resort management and complimentary two year membership in Intrawest's exclusive Resort to Resort home owner exchange program.
